

ClayTech®, ATENNIS COURT SURFACE, PREPARES TO MAKE ITS MARK IN THE US

FieldTurf Tarkett teams up with Lee Tennis, maker of Har-Tru® clay courts, to introduce an international Tennis surfacing option

Field Turf Tarkett and Lee Tennis recently joined ventures in introducing Clay Tech in the United States at a contractors' meeting that was held in advance of the American Sports Builders Association conference in Florida.

Lee Tennis decided to align with a like-minded strategic partner, FieldTurf Tarkett, to continue providing its contractors and costumers with the latest and best array of tennis surfacing options. In keeping with its mission to provide the most cutting-edge products worldwide and expert technical assistance was another reason for Lee Tennis' new business partnership with FieldTurf Tarkett.

Lee Tennis, the sole US distributor of ClayTech, is making the product available nationwide to contractors, club owners, players and pros. The company has invested in promoting the product and will continue to work together with FieldTurf Tarkett to promote ClayTech worldwide.

"We're very excited about partnering with FieldTurf Tarkett, a leader in the sports surfacing industry, and we hope our combined experiences will take us to new heights in the global tennis surfacing industry," said John Welborn, director of Lee Tennis. "At Lee Tennis, we are always seeking to provide the latest and best array of surfacing options for those who love the game of tennis and we believe that FieldTurf Tarkett embodies a similar vision."
